Phase II Activation of the Heat Contingency Plan

Phase II actions of the California Heat Contingency Plan are taken as a result of the issuance of a Special Weather Statement by the National Weather Service predicting an Excessive Heat Warning for an Operational Area or power outages during warmer-than-normal weather conditions. Phase II of the Heat Contingency Plan has been activated from Saturday, 06/17/17, through Wednesday, 06/21/17, due to forecasts of dangerous and excessive heat.

- Per the National Weather Service (NWS):
  - An Excessive Heat Warning is in effect through Thursday evening over much of the Sacramento and Central Valleys, and Saturday for portions of Southern California.
  - In addition to the Excessive Heat Warnings, Heat Advisories are in effect for surrounding areas with high temperatures forecast to range from 90 to 105 degrees across most inland areas with locally hotter temperatures possible.
  - Fire Weather Watch in effect for the eastern portion of Shasta/Trinity National Forest through the Northern Sacramento Valley from Wednesday afternoon through Thursday evening for high temperatures and winds with lower relative humidity in these areas.
  - Heat stress possible for livestock with limited relief from the heat overnight.
  - Area waterways are running very cold and fast, increasing risk for hypothermia and water rescues.
  - Phase II actions of the California Heat Contingency Plan has been extended from Wednesday 06/21/17 through Friday 06/23/17.

EMAC and Public Assistance - 2017 Winter Storms

Cal OES Recovery Division identified the need for Public Assistance subject matter experts to assist with the aftermath of the 2017 Severe Winter Storms. Accordingly, Cal OES requested assistance from other states through the Emergency Management Assistance Compact (EMAC) - the Nation's mutual-aid system. New Jersey and Colorado provided personnel that arrived on Monday, 06/13/17. Both states along with other potential states will be providing support between now and the beginning of September at various Joint Field Offices throughout California. The goal is to assist those impacted counties in identifying disaster related damage and program eligibility.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA

*** Very Hot/Dry All PSA's Through Saturday, North Winds Returning Wednesday - Thursday For High Risk Conditions in the Sacramento Valley and Surrounding Foothills ***

*** Isolated Lightning Possible Higher Terrain Again Today, Maybe Wed Too***

Unseasonably strong high pressure will keep its grip on the North Ops region through Saturday for a continuation of very hot, dry weather. Isolated thunderstorms are expected over the higher terrain today and possibly Wednesday as well, mainly above 3500 ft elevation where fuels the ground are quite moist or still snow-covered. Winds will also be fairly light today except for thunderstorm outflows. Temperatures will be around 20 degrees above normal, but RH will still be slow to drop, although some areas today will be lower than they have been. Much drier conditions are expected in the Sacramento Valley area under the north winds that will develop Wednesday and last through Thursday. Lowest RH's will generally be 10-20% into this weekend with overnight RH recoveries 40-55% common, but only up to around 35% in other areas. Areas right along the coast are the exception to the heat (as always), and coastal low clouds will persist today north of Cape Mendocino, but become less likely over the next few days.

Northerly winds of 10-20 mph with gusts of 25-35 mph and possibly locally stronger will develop later Wednesday, especially from the lower western Sierra slopes to the coastal mountains. These winds will diminish later Thursday to continue at lighter speeds in many areas through the evening. Minimum RH's in the windy inland areas will drop to 5-15% Wednesday and Thursday. Afternoon and evening thunderstorm chances will continue in the Sierra south of highway 50, possibly Friday and Saturday as well. The high pressure ridge is expected to weaken some Sunday, and there will be a chance of more thunderstorms.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

***Hot temperatures, low afternoon RH next several days***

***Turning breezy in the passes and canyons later this week***

Near record high temperatures can be expected across inland areas the next several days. Yesterday, temperatures were in the upper 90s to 102 in the valleys and lower foothills. Expect readings to be another 3-5 degrees warmer the next 3 days. The San Joaquin Valley will see temperatures of 105-110 the next few days, while desert temperatures surpass 120 across the lower elevations. Minimum RH will drop into the 8-12% range in the foothills and mountains below 7,000 feet for 6-8 hours today, and again Wednesday afternoon. Despite the heat and a dry air mass, isolated thunderstorms will be possible across the Sierra Crest each day this week. Yesterday, there were roughly 75 strikes in the Stanislaus N.F. toward the Tahoe N.F. Expect similar amounts of convection with most of the storms remaining across the highest elevations from Fresno County northward. The hottest days look to be today through Thursday, for onshore flow is expected to develop Friday into the weekend. This will bring a slow cooling trend to the inland areas with temperatures dropping back to near normal readings by next Sunday or Monday. Southwest and west afternoon breezes of 15-25 mph with gusts to 35 mph will be possible in the Antelope Valley and Banning Pass Thursday into the weekend
